The Country Food Trust is a charity which produces delicious meals and donates them to people in need. Since inception we have produced over 300,000 meals and donated them to charities who feed people.

Our aim is to feed over one million people in the next five years.

We currently make two microwaveable products which are ambient and can be stored for up to a year without chilling, making them ideal for Food Banks.

The Country Casserole - a nutritious and warming pheasant casserole with lentils, vegetables and herbs.

The Country Curry - a delicious and mildly spicy pheasant curry with squash, tomatoes, coconut and spices.

We also supply chilled or frozen pheasant breasts to charities with cooking facilities.

Our food is mainly distributed by FareShare, an award-winning national charity which supports thousands of charities and we also give directly to many other smaller charities.

To achieve our aim we seek donations and support from individuals, companies and shoots.

Please see overleaf for more information on how you can help.
